MEDIA ADVISORY

Ontario's Minister of Colleges and Universities to inaugurate Niagara College's International Students' Incubation Centre

What: On Nov. 28, Niagara College will announce the launch of the first-ever incubation centre for international students in the country. The Niagara College International Students' Incubation Centre (NCISIC) will aim to support International students with innovative business ideas.

Who: Jill Dunlop, Ontario's Minister of Colleges and Universities, and Sean Kennedy, the college's president, will officially inaugurate the centre by cutting the ribbon.

When: Niagara College's annual Gala- 6 p.m., Nov. 28, 2023

Where: Marriot on the Falls, 6755 Fallsview Blvd., Niagara Falls, Ont. L2G 3W7

Why: #NCCares for its international students. NC knights travel from across the world, crossing every hurdle which comes their way to attain top-class Canadian education. They pay large sums of fees to stay away from their families and make sacrifices to make a career in Canada. Niagara College recognizes these challenges and have decided to be the first-ever Canadian college to incubate International Students. Niagara College will support students with innovative start-up ideas through a wide range of incubation, consultancy services and funds.

Who: For interviews or additional information, don't hesitate to get in touch with Bhriгу Bagga, PR coordinator at Niagara College: +1-431-xxx-xxx or bhriгу@niagaracollege.ca

Photo opportunity: The minister will be available for a photo opportunity with College staff, faculty and international students. We shall also provide High-resolution photos after the event.

Please RSVP by Nov 17 to secure your spot at this exclusive event.
